Voters decide dockside galackson, MS No dice:

Hancock sheriff opposed

BY TRACI BONNEY

Opposing cruise vessel gaming is not a matter of choice for Hancock County Sheriff Ronald

"As sheriff of this county, I feel that I don't have any other alternative but to oppose." Peterson stated. "It's been proven that where gambling comes in, crime goes up."

He said if the referendum passes December 4 and gaming ships come into the county, "we will definitely need more law enforcement personnel

Another point of opposition for Peterson is the bill, passed during the state legislature's special session last summer, that brought dockside gambling into the spotlight.

"I don't like the bill," Peterson commented. "I don't think the state can control gambling, not the way this bill is written.

"If my understanding of the bill is right, the gaming commission it mandates will not come into being until 1993. The gambling operations will be in before then."

In addition, he said, the county will not receive much of the revenue generated by dock-side gambling under the bill.

"I just don't really believe we are ready for dockside gambling. I think it will disrupt the community.

"Another thing about this that concerns me is that there's no residency requirement or maximum bet. When a person goes into one of those places, he could bet $1,000 or $100,000 or more."

Bay mayor in favor

BY TRACI BONNEY

For those who have wondered, Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre favors the benefits of dockside gambling in Hancock County.

Favre said Friday he doesn't necessarily support the gambling itself, but he does favor the economic benefits he expects it to bring to the

"The platform of my mayoral campaign was to willingly be responsible for the progress, pre-servation and protection of Bay St. Louis, My first priority as mayor is to base my decisions on what will be the best for the greatest number of Bay St. Louis residents.

"I will not change this platform when making major, or politically dangerous, decisions. I was not elected to hide from, nor ignore, the issues at Favre said his favorable stance on the issue of cruise vessel gaming was made after considering all information presented over the last few months and conducting personal investigation.

He commented, "Cruise vessel gaming will offer opportunities for population and economic growth. It will provide an opening for future development, offering economic growth alternatives to tax increases. I cannot ignore this potential."

State law limits total tax collections by all local government agencies to a seven-to-10 percent increase over the previous year's total collections, Favre explained. "Therefore, if total property values increase more than this percentage MAYOR-Page 6A

Charles Lambert, owner of Bay Cove Harbor reported Friday, Nov. 30, that in response to residential concern "we have finalized a right-of-way for a new access road which will lead into Bay Cove Marina."

According to Lambert, traffic into the harbor will be directed for a short distance, down "Blue Meadow Road, which is a state aid read and is capable of handling heavy traffic. From there; traffic will turn right onto the new access road, which will be paved at cost to Bay Cove Harbor. "After hearing concerns by residents about excessive traffic through neighborhoods," continued Lambert, "Bay Cove Harbor has taken action in addressing any potential crowding of local streets."

Lambert added that the taxpayers need not be concerned with any of this cost. "We are going to take care of it, as we have done and will continue to do."

Along with the cost of the property purchase and paving for the new road, Lambert said that Bay Cove Harbor would be hiring local security people to satisfy other concerns.

project to match state funds, Seal asked if he could proceed with the work needed to acquire rights-of-way for work on the two roads, with the intention of applying for the state funds in October when fiscal year 1992 will begin for the county.

The supervisors agreed to Seal's proposal. Michael Reeves, architect for the county's new multipurpose building, also attended the workshop. He updated the board about the construction process, and said substantial completion of the building should be achieved sometime in the first two weeks of January 1991. He added that the parking lots may not be finished before the start of February, depending on weather in January.

Based on Reeves' information, the board decided to tentatively schedule the building's dedication in early March instead of February 2, as was originally planned.

Brenda Clark with District 9 of the Health Department was the last person to come before the board. By this time, president Ronald Cuevas had left to attend another meeting. In addition, Supervisor Mike Ladner was not present. Clark asked the remaining three board members for the board's help in enforcing a 1987 law that requires developers to obtain Health Department approval of new sewerage installations and treatment

Local family seeks help to rebuild house

Dennis and Laura Farve face another crisis with their Morgan Park subdivision house.

An article in the July 1 edition of The Sea Coast Echo stated that Concerned Citizens of Hancock County had come to the aid of the Farves, whose house was in danger of being condemned. CCHC member Geraldine Lang said that house might have to be torn down and rebuilt. As things currently stand, the house has been torn down, and CCHC is ready to start rebuilding. The problem is that the group can find no one to measure the lot and put the form for the foundation slab in

Lang said the Farves, who are 71 and 64 years old and have three of their four children living with them (one of them is mentally handicapped), stand to lose about $2,800 in materials and volunteer labor if the slab isn't poured soon.

While the Farves temporarily live in public housing, volunteers have battled drainage problems that slowed down work on the new house. Lang said the ground underneath the old foundation was "pure slush" after the first two feet of dirt.

The volunteers thought they had solved the problem when they filled the lot with clay dirt, but that only worsened matters. "The man at the store said 'dirt.' and I didn't know he meant

When the workers discovered their error, Lang said, they removed the clay dirt and replaced it with several truckloads of sand. The ground is now ready, but a contractor is needed.

Lang said Jobs Corps will pour the slab and do the plumbing work if the form is placed and a plumber will "rough in" the pipes.

"I know we have some good people in the community who can donate their services," Lang stated.

She asked that anyone interested in volunteering call Con-cerned Citizens of Hancock County at 467-9586, or Maurice Singleton of the Veterans Civic Organization at 467-7842.

Lang added that CCHC also needs donated electrical wiring and the services of a qualified electrician.

Main Street jingles with the spirit of Christmas

The "Red Ribbon" Christmas Parade led the way for Hancock County's Red Ribbon by the Bay celebrations. Over thirty units from Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead participated. There were floats, marching groups, bands, antique cars, McGruffy the drugfighting police mascot, the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of America, pageant princesses and of course, Santa Claus. Santa dismounted a bright red fire engine, temporally losing his cap, to visit on the court house lawn with the children, letting everyone know in Hancock County that "You better watch out...", the Christmas season has arrived. "QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is most important for all qualified electors of Hancock County to get out and vote on Tuesday.

The voters will be voting on one matter, Dockside Gambling, and it is important for everyone to express their opinion by voting on this matter.

The electors of Waveland will elect a mayor, and three Aldermen on Tuesday, so it is extra important for them to vote.

Waveland has only had two mayors since 1942. Every vote does count in Waveland.

In 1942 Garfield Ladner defeated the incumbent mayor, Thomas J. Bourgeois by a vote of 129 to 128. Yes, that was a one vote margin.

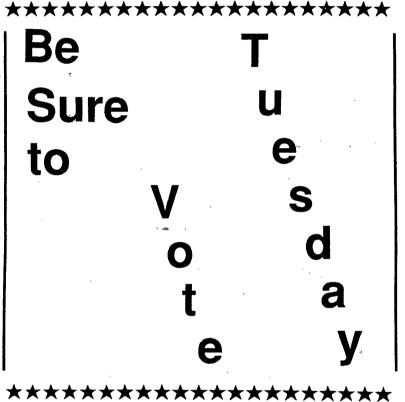

I can also recall that a race for an alderman's post was won several years ago by a one vote margin in a run-off election.

I realize there are many more residents and voters residing in Waveland today, but, the importance of every qualified elector going to the polls and voting is still as great.

This will be the general election for Waveland. One alderman's post has no opposition; however, races involving three Board of Alderman seats and selection of a new mayor for the city are still to be decided. The persons you choose will lead the city of Waveland for the next four years.

Call your friends and neighbors and remind them of the vital importance of going to the polls on Tuesday to Remember, the polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Gambling destroyed lives in this family

Dear Editor:

I am so tired of people telling me that gambling will not hurt families. I will ever forget what happened to my family with gambling. My mother and father gambled. My three brothers and two sisters and I had to go to work to help with the bills. None of us were able to go to high school.

I worked 78 hours a week. My mother gave me 50 cents from my pay to last all week. I watched my mother pay more on one number in the lottery than she gave me all week. I remember going to a dance with my Dad's shoes. The only shoes I had were work shoes.

My mother went to the gambling house by taxi cab across town. My Dad played the horses, he played cards, and God knows what else.

Every six months we moved, at night, because we could not pay the rent. My Dad had a good-paying job, but it was never enough money.

Some days my Dad had a lot of money. The next day, he could not buy his lunch. At 17 I went into the service. I could no take anymore. Nothing changed with Dad and Mom when I got home about their gambling habits.

My Mom got very sick. You would think my Dad would quit gambling to pay the doctor. The only thing it did was make him gamble more, trying to pay the died, they had nothing.

I pray to God this will never happen to another family. The only people gambling helps are people who run the gambling casinos and those in public office who pad their pockets with money from the poor people trying to beat the odds.

Negative effects of tourism, holidays no worse than gambling

Dear Editor

Increased crime, increased traffic, increased drunkeness, increased alcohol-related accidents—sometimes result-ing in death...

Does it look like I am describing the negative effects of dockside gambling? I'm not. I'm describing the negative effects of the Christmas season and most other holidays. Should we cut out all this foolishness and stop celebrating the holidays? Of course not.

These are also the negative effects of one of our biggest sources of revenue, tourism. The Mississippi Gulf Coast could not survive without tourism and it just might flourish with dockside gambling.

If I thought gambling to be a sin, or condemned in the Bible, I would be against it myself. I's

Vote 'no' to prospect of dockside gambling

To the Editor,

By even considering the dockside and land gambling issue, we have sent a message to many that it may be ok.

When we relocated six years ago, we left behind the glitter and crime of big-city living and selected a charming and beautiful community.

The threat of a gambling empire moving into my back yard has been very disturbing. A parasite has no life of its own. It lives off the life blood of other things, and when the tree dies, it moves on. Atlantic City and Las Vegas happen to a community when the big casinos take over. They present a total life situation. Low cost rooms, food, entertainment other temptations, all wrapped up in a lovely package. A good clean lifestyle cannot

I love my adopted home. I am getting very tired of running. It is my prayer that many others will join with me when I say I am ready to fight for our lifestyle. It will be an expensive battle for the gambling empire, since we will fight them every step of the way.

I am most interested in getting the opinion of our elected officials over this very important issue. People are watching, and voters are becoming much more selective. Old political dynasties are crumbling because many feel that after getting elected, it is not necessary to honestly represent the voting public and their values.

I am most anxious to see what representatives will have the courage to speak out. We Americans have another right in addition to free speech. It is to vote. Many of us are regular and vocal voters.

Sincerely Beverly Albe

Gambling industry jobs would discourage welfare

Dear Editor,

I am so disappointed in the closed minded people in the Hancock County area. Here we have the biggest opportunity in our lives for better jobs and personal benefits.

I can't believe that these people actually think that dockside gaming is going to turn this place into another Atlantic City or Las Vegas, when in reality we are so far behind times compared to other states.

Finally, we will have an industry what will take on more than 250 employees per vessel, not including jobs that will open when the money starts coming in to expand into more businesses that will eventually employ more people than you realize.

This will also bing our unemployment rate down and help get some of our people off of wel-fare. If dockside gambling is approved these people will be able to go out and do productive work, they will be proud of their earnings and where they stand

So, therefore, if more people are working and earning money, then our merchants won't have to struggle to survive, as they have in the past.

I could go on and on about all of the reasons we need this chance to help employ our people and keep them in Hancock County. I say 'yes' to dockside gambling.

Gambling is not answer to our economy's problems

To the Editor,

It saddens me to realize that our society can be so easily deceived, to believe that "all that glitters is gold."

The real issues have been exposed and the facts have been revealed. Dear Editor,

Some sold at tremendous profit, while others held back. The American way provides the gambling option in business, life and death. Each day of our life we challenge the odds.

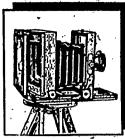

Each business decision we make, we try to reason and gamble against failure. Every day of our life we hope for a full house' and not the same old pair of dueces. And in our eternity, we all hope to have earned our wings in what we, as individuals, see as heaven.

Sam was a cute, fluffy Toy French Poodle puppy who saved the life of his mistress, Miss Linda Heatherington, 19 years old, legally blind daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Heatherington, 624 Central Avenue, Waveland on Monday. He had been investigating the neighborhood, as young puppies will, and upon returning about 2:30 a.m. saw his home in flames. Sam knew his blind mistress was in a second story bedroom, ill and probably sleeping. He didn't hesitate. Looking like a bouncing ball of fluffy yarn he sped into the house, up the burning stairs and into the sleeping girl's room where he barked and tugged at her flimsy nightdress until she awakened. Miss Heartherington, wearing contact lenses that enable her to faintly see large objects, made her way through the smoke filled, oven-like house thinking her puppy following. After she burst through the flaming door, barefooted and in nightclothes, she was taken, hysterical, but luckily uninjured to a neighbor's home. But, no one could find Sam. Time seizes and galvanizes our attention, usually blotting out eternity's necessary, sober realities which we should be pondering and constantly attempting to tailor to our sojourn in time itself.

Yet, the very fact that we allow time to clamp a quasimonopoly on our life proves our insecurity about our allotted time and our latent need to graduate to the secure permanence of eternity. Clearly, eternity has to be since time's monopoly is a very futile, frustrating expression of what we have, what we want and what we actually need. The latter is somehow always compromised by time and rendered possible only by the prospect of eternity. The love which we have for each other is proof positive that eternity has to be, because, try as we may, we just don't have the time to express our love with the fullness of meaning, understanding, sensitivity and power which we desire. Of course, we will use time to the greatest advantage, but it is not

Eternity has to be, in light of the fact that time accelerates as we grow older, just when we are maturing enough to enjoy the wonderful benefits of time. Of the many ironies of life, this has to be one of the seemingly cruelest, that, after many years have finally taught us how to live, it is time to die.

There can be no doubt that eternity has to be, since everything which we learn serves only to make us hungrier for another reservoir of knowledge which always lies beyond where we are and what we have come to know and appreciate. Our hunger and thirst for knowledge exceeds by far the limits of

Eternity has to be

we are so hard to please, why we are so seldom satisfied with most things, why we tend to complain so much? To some extent, of course, we are selfish and immature, but the issue goes much deeper than that.

Our lingering dissatisfaction with so many things in life is a sure indication that time cannot slake our thirst or appease our hunger for what is best, most meaningful and most fulfilling in our personal experiences.

No matter how much we invest in it, time is at best a temporary, weak conveyor of life and of all the things entailed in promoting life to the full.

What time cannot slake or satisfy, eternity can accommodate with infinity to spare. That is why time is by an introduc-tion to our life, the beginning of a journey which cannot be bounded, the handmaid of an eternity which has to be. Yes, eternity has to be,

Have you ever wondered why because we need a lifetime to reign ourselves in, to move ourselves out, to develop our character, to polish our personality, to overcome our deficiencies and to blossom forth as complete human beings.

> Since we need a lifetime to accomplish these things, we must be getting ready for something which comes at the end of our earthly days.

> Because we have such beautiful, fantastic dreams of the many things which we want to do, of the treasured things which we want to possess, of a storied world which will someday be, our severely limited time has to melt into an eternity which has to be.

> Yes, eternity has to be, because we plainly do not have the time to complete here the dreams toward which our heart

St. Augustine sums it up for us: "Our hearts are restless, Oh God, and they will never find rest until they rest in you.'

LOOKING INSIDE

By Pastor Bob Guidry, Jr.

Blessed are they that mourn?

You probably don't need me to tell you that sadness, despair and discouragement are not particularly wonderful to have around you. We like our lives to be continually, surrounded by happi-ness. Unfortunately, because of circumstances around us, this is not the case.

 Jesus said in Matthew 5:4, "Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted."

There is something very special about the times when Jesus comforts you. It seems to always outweigh the times of mourning. It's as if all the pain you have gone through is suddenly

Jesus says in John 14:18, "I will not leave you comfortless."

What is this comfort that Jesus gives us?

In John 14:26 Jesus tells us the comforter is the Holy Spirit, or Holy Ghost. We find later, in Acts 2, that 122 of the followers of Jesus received the Holy Spirit and began to speak with other tongues and prophesy.

Just a few days earlier they were mourning over the death of Jesus and over his leaving them to be with the Father in

Now, they were filled with excitement and joy over their receiving this gift of the Holy

The Holy Spirit is not given to the world but to the followers of Jesus. John 14:17 says, "...the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him."

King David knew the Spirit of the Lord. He said in Psalms 130:11, "Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing."

The Spirit of God can do the same for you if you will let him. God does not give the Spirit as a blanket gift to everyone in the world, as we have read in John 14:17. God does, however, give the Spirit to those who follow

The apostle Peter said in Acts 2:38, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

USM/Gulf Coast opens 'Toy Library' for handicapped

The University of Southern Mississippi/Gulf Coast Friday officially opened a library of specially designed toys for handicapped children to begin serving the Mississippi Coast's handicapped children and their

The "toy library," made possible with a $43,000 grant from the Hasbro Children's Foundation, will provide specially designed toys that even severely handicapped children can use—at the toy library, located on USM's Long Beach campus, or by checking toys out for home use in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

Toy library coordinator Lois Gore of Long Beach also will offer training in special play techniques for the children's

"I'm looking forward to working with families who have special children," Gore said. "The families, including siblings, are encouraged to come to the library, so they can learn to play with these children."

Gore was to receive training in play techniques for handicapped children and their families from the Atlanta, Ga., Lekotek—a Swedish word for "play library."

"The toys are the vehicle by which we are trying to accomplish something more," Gore said. "We want to be part of the support system that families like this need. We want to integrate children into their families and the families into the community."

Dr. Sara Jackson, an assistant professor of special education at USM/Gulf Coast and author of the grant proposal, said the altered toys are a recent part of a continuing effort to help handicapped children become as independent as possible.

"Since handicapped children are often unable to play with ordinary toys, there have been recent efforts to create special toys and modify regular toys for the unique needs of young handicapped children," she

"These special toys are expensive and not widely marketed, so the library will be a way to enjoy toys and playing," she

The library's toys include a tricycle with an adjustable seat back, upright hand grips to encourage better posture, seat belts and a pulley system to keep the pedals level. Other toys include the Penguin Rollercoaster, Dolphin Jump, Fireman's Ladder and the Barking

Tiger hoopster's wins increase record to 5-3

BY ELLIS CUEVAS The Bay High Tigers have improved their record to 5-3 in boys high school basketball play.

Coach Michael Ladner, is pleased with his team's performance this week.

On Tuesday Bay High defeated Pearl River Central 92-76 at the Tiger Dome.

Senior David Weems had an outstanding all-round performance Ladner said, scoring 35 points, 11 rebounds, five assists with four steals to the lead the Tigers in the victory.

Other double figure players were seniors Mike Scharp, 20 points, and three steals; and Calvin Thigpen, 12 points and five rebounds. Senior James Mayfield contributed nine points and five assists. On Friday night the Tigers visited the East Central Hornets and were also victorious

Weems and Sharp both had good night's against East

Weems scored 32 points, nine assists, five rebounds with four steals, while Scharp had 19 points, 11 rebounds with four assists and three steals.

Also scoring in double figures were sophomore Triftian Robertson with 12 points and four rebounds and Thigpen with 14 points.

Other members of the Tiger varsity squad are, senior Kevin Couch and Miguel Mazarias; junior Brian Necaise, sophomores Travis Collins and Tripp Whavers.

The junior varsity team defeated Pearl River Central 80-26 shooting 63% field goals from the floor, an elated Ladner

High scorers were, Travis Collins, 21 points; Tripp Whavers, 19 points; Triftian Robertson 18 points; Miguel Mazarias, 12 points; Kévin Couch, 8 points and Ricky Coles, 2 points, also playing was Billy Fryer.

Several of the players are on both the varsity and junior varsity squads, coach Ladner said.

The Lady Tigers lost two this past week as they were defeated by Pearl Tiver Central 51 29 on High scorer for Bay High was Kecia Walker with 13 points supported by Stacy Henley with five points and Lachina Tillman five points. In the Friday game against East Central defeated the Lady Tigers 52-11. Only scorers for the Tigers were, Vida Laneaux with six points and Walker added the other five points. This Tuesday the Lady Tigers play host to Stone County 6:30 p.m. followed by the boys

"Bay St. Louis cannot ignore construction, maintenance, sales, service or managerial jobs that will be offered by investors in cruise vessel gaming. Existing local businesses deserve the opportunity to take advantage of increased traffic Local real estate companies deserve the opportunity to enjoy a healthy market."

Favre said he sees two options for raising revenues: voluntary taxes, or mandatory ones.

"If you choose to use the gaming facilities, you choose to pay the taxes levied. Mandatory tax increases leave you no choice. You must pay the tax or face loss of property, business and new transportation because you can't afford to pay for the car tag. I cannot ignore this choice

The mayor addressed the issue of zoning next, saying he has delayed action on a comprehensive zoning study and new ordinance so that he can address local legislative controls of cruise vessel gaming to protect the historical character, appearance and resources of Bay St.

"You control zoning issues, not gaming investors," he stated. Favre continued, "The expense of additional demands on local infrastructures is proven to be offset by local revenues from gaming operations. To use gaming oppents' figures recently published, Atlantic City and two state agencies spent $83 million on law enforcement as a result of casino operation.

"It was not mentioned that $590 million was generated in taxes and fees from these operations alone. This voluntary tax payment has generated $4.3 billion since 1978. "Big numbers for a big city, but the result is the same — a profit of $5.07 million in one year used to offset these law enforcement and public works increases.

"Bay St. Louis is a small city and the numbers will never be the same, but when put in perspective our gains will be the same."

Favre ended by saying he encourages voter support of cruise vessel gaming and he will support the choice of the people, whatever it may be.

Peterson said he is not opposed to either a state lottery or non-profit bingo games, but he doesn't want to see cruise vessel gaming come into the county.

However, he is not blinded by his view. "If this is voted in, we will prepare for what's to come. We will be prepared to handle any problems that might arise from this.'

WHAT DOES AN ALDERMAN DO? Why is it so important who you choose? An Alderman works with the Mayor and other Alderman to make the right decision to benefit all the people's needs. •The care, management and control of the town, its parks, recreational facilities, streets, drainage, water/sewer systems, sidewalks, garbage collection, etc.

•to levy and collect taxes on real and personal property.

·See that nuisances, health and otherwise, are stopped or limited to insure •Setting the budget for the city, determining which items are to be bought, what improvements made, what problems resolved.

•All needed police regulations necessary for the preservation of good order •Encourage new business into the city, for jobs and increased sales revenues.

After speaking with the people in Ward 2, I find many of you have not been able to get assistance to have your problems taken care of, (drainage, abandoned property, stray dogs, sewer and water bills, driveways destroyed by broken water mains. etc.)

Isn't it important you have an Alderman who will take time to care?

I AM THAT ALDERMAN AND I WILL BE THERE FOR YOU.

I would appreciate your vote in the General Election on Dec. 4, 1990. paid political advertisement by Sue Ashman.

Pat Drawdy chose the challenge of critical care nursing for the close patient contact.

"I want patient contact," she said. "I like knowing everything about my patient. Since the patient ratio is either one-to-one or two-to-one, I know what's going on with my patients and their families."

Professional nursing at Memorial means access to progressive health care. "At Memorial," Pat said, you are exposed to a lot more than you would be at other Coast hospitals — the open heart program, the cath lab, the critical care transport. Memorial is very

Memorial recognizes not only your professionalism — but your need to share in the important decisions governing nursing practice at MHG. That's why we have two very special programs in place to give the professional RN the power to improve the care-giving environment.

Through our Career Advancement Program (CAP) and Shared Governance, the nurse working at the bedside can continue to increase his/her level of knowledge, experience and involvement in professional activities as well as have a real voice in the management of nursing practice. Through CAP, the registered nurse advances through four levels of clinical expertise, receiving recognition and reward at each level. In Shared Governance, the nurse on the floor can gain decision-making power through several nursing councils.

later date, this could change, especially with a full-time office schedule.".

Would you plan to revitalize the Coleman Avenue area or concentrate on development of US-90 property?

MASON: "There are many ways to revitalize and improve both Coleman Avenue and US-90. Beautification and grass cutting would be a good start

"Street improvements and more parking on Coleman Avenue are needed. I would try to locate any available grants, such as "Main Street Project," and recruit other businesses to relocate to Waveland.

"I would advertise in publications to bring tourists back to Waveland when people are driving through on US-90 or Hwy. 603. The first image of our city is how our mediums and roadsides look."

FRILOT: "Coleman Avenue is the heart of our city and I feel revitalization is necessary to our continued growth.

"I will support any and all efforts to achieve this mean. The proper development of Highway 90 is also an integral part of our community and I will give it equal and fair support."

What would you do to encourage development of small businesses?

FRILOT: "I would meet with present and future business owners and operators in order to explore their needs and fulfill those needs to the best of my abilities.

"It is easier to attract new businesses to an area when the businesses already there are doing well and are supported."

MASON: "I would set up a schedule of in-kind services available, such as water, sewerage, gas and electricity.

"There are programs available through the power companies, if the city also gives in-kind services free for a set amount of time."

Do you plan expansion/ improvement of Garfield Ladner pier?

MASON: "I believe there are plans for future expansion for the pier, and as funds become available, we would continue to add on to the pier."

FRILOT: "Yes, as funds become available. There is already a plan for future expansion"

Do you have a plan to expand recreational facilities?

MASON: "Not at the present time. Our best way to increase FRILOT: "The city is in dire need of expanded recreational facilities for all ages.

"As mayor, I would work diligently with the board to expand and improve recreational facilities."

MASON: "There is already a county parks and recreation department. I believe we can best move forward by joining with Bay St. Louis and the county."

"This would enable us to best utilize our financial resources for the largest number of citizens in our community. A board or committee of citizens from all three facilities would oversee the department."

The Waveland Police Department is often criticized. Do you plan any changes in this department?

MASON: "There are several adjustments that can be made at the police department, such as ongoing technical training, better public relations with the community and more effective patrol procedures.

"More effective rank structure with pay increases to match are needed. We have many good police officers, but their priorities must be adjusted."

FRILOT:

"Yes, in police attitude and performance. Courtesy and service will have equal priority with protection."

Would you approve any tax increases? If so, where?

FRILOT: "Taxes have been set for 1991 and have not been increased. The Board of Aldermen sets the taxes, but I would oppose any tax increases."

MASON: "Not at the present time. Our best way to increase revenues is to recruit more tourism and business to Waveland."

Do you know of any area of the city's operation that need immediate improvement?

MASON: "Yes. We need an ongoing street and drainage program. We must not be caught up in an "emergency bandaid repair syndrome" all the time.

"By good planning, we can best use our tax dollars more efficiently."

FRILOT: "Yes. The recordkeeping practices need immediate improvement. Voting rolls need to be computerized and alphabetized.

"Financial accounts need similar updating."

What are your feelings about dockside gambling?

FRILOT: "It is a complex county issue; one with both moral and financial ramifications.

"I urge people to vote the way they feel best, state their own beliefs, not mine."

MASON: "I have no problem with where the present locations for? dockside gambling would be.

"But, I would be against any dockside gambling on any of our beach facilities. I believe we can take care of that problem with ordinances."

From 1976-1985, one thousand eight hundred and ninety (1,890) established businesses closed their doors.

Businesses Operating in Atlantic City
1976-1985 A decline of over 1000%

The same dramatic demise of businesses occurred in Deadwood, South Dakota as a result of legalized casino gambling:

"It happened so fast. All our businesses went out of our town. I don't have anything against gambling, but we don't have any town left. You can't even buy jeans here...this puts us on the map in a bad way." Retired Navy Officer Roger Jones, Resident of Deadwood

"This USED to be a town. Now, look at what we have - a phony little amusement park...I don't have any moral opposition to gambling...but we've lost our identity as a community...we've lost everything we had."

Betty Whittington, Resident Deadwood, SD Charter member of the Committee of Legalize Gambling in Deadwood

"All you have to tell those people in Mississippi is that Deadwood went to hell in a handbasket...there's too many loonies coming to town...I'm just quittin. I wouldn't advise any town to accept a deal like this." Elderly motel owner in Deadwood, SD who is planning to move

"Real estate values and property tax assessments have skyrocketed, driving out most of the small businessmen who had dreamed of sharing in the gambling bonanza."

Concerning Atlantic City in "Parade," "Why Casino Gambling is a Bad Bet" by Ovid Demaris, author of "The Boardwalk Jungle")

"Devastating" is how one local police official characterizes the social impact on Atlantic City concerning the deluge of muggings, purse snatchings, car thefts, crimes of trickery, dope peddling, and prostitution stimulated by the introduction of casinos.

From "Report of Massachusette's Legislative Research Bureau")

Atlantic City's Police Department was faced with a 2,000 percent increase in demand for its services within four years of legalizing casinos.

(Abram Report)

Elderly residents have become prime targets for criminal attacks on the streets and in their homes. They live in fear of crime, especially burglaries and personal assaults.

(From "Report of Stockton State College" (1981) on problems of Atlantic City's elderly population)

SUN HERALD DENOUNCES CASINO GAMBLING.

"We urge everyone to consider the long term implications these referendums will have on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and vote against the proposal."

November 8, 1990

People see the contrast between the facilities we've put up and the rest of the town, and they think, what happened? Why did these bastards not do what they were supposed to do? The fact is we did. We came here to produce the money, not to run the city.

Thomas Carver, President Casino Association of New Jersey

Jobs created by casinos come at the expense of jobs lost to regular business...

(Bureau of Business & Economic Research, paper No. 82)

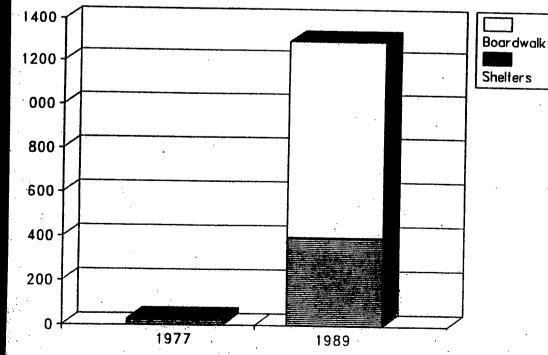

Atlantic City Homeless Population Swells:

A Major MINOR Problem

Despite the claims of casino owners to have turned away 230,000 minors at the door, and 25,000 from within the establishments a survey of Atlantic City high school students conducted as early as 1981 revealed:

•72% of the students had gambled in the casinos in Atlantic City.

•69% started gambling by the age of sixteen.

Casino gambling acts as a magnet attracting the homeless and vagrants as evidenced by the dramatic increase in those seeking assistance from the shelters located in Atlantic City. Time Magazine in it's feature article about Atlantic City.

"It's the end of the expressway," says Barry Durman, the Missions Director. "Once you get here, where do you go?"

Three days a week, a retired railroad engineer, merchant marine, and clergyman join businessmen from other equally varied backgrounds for a singular purpose.

They meet before 9 a.m. to enjoy a few moments of hand-shaking and camaraderie prior to slipping into their respective classrooms, where they are welcomed enthusiastically by the pre-schoolers who await them.

Squeezing awkwardly into pint-size chairs, they begin the task of the day—be it matching letters, naming colors, singing nursery rhymes...

"Project Grandpa" is in full gear.

The men, organized by Brother Canisius of St. Stanislaus, divide their time between three locations, Child Development Center, Methodist Children's Center and Hancock County Head Start.

The idea was conceived to afford a male role model and influence to several of the children without fathers and grandfathers. Most of the men have numerous grandchildren of their own, but wouldn't dream of missing a day with their "extended family."

CHRISTMAS LOVE

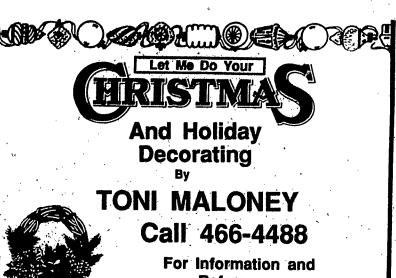

Love is in the air along with the nip of Christmastime when Mississippi ETV presents a one-hour special with lecturer, college professor and best-selling author Leo Buscaglia.

'Stories of Christmas Love with Leo Buscaglia' will be rebroadcast again this holiday season beginning at 10 p.m., Monday, Dec. 3 on the statewide network.

What we really need to do is remember what it was like to be a kid," Buscaglia says to viewers in the 'Christmas Love' special. "I don't care how old you are, you still have that kid somewhere. Go find him or her and remember what it was like when you still believed in everything."

It is Buscaglia's message that Christmas should be a time for joyous giving that makes this tender program so endearing to audiences. "The basis of the psychology of giving is very simple," Buscaglia says. "Does the gift show love? If the gift shows love, then there is no small gift. If you want to give the best gift-give yourself."

Hancock District to form Lady Landowners League

Commission.

Special to the Echo Did you now that more than 60 percent of the landowners in Mississippi are women? Most of these women rely on a male relative or a hired hand to manage their land. Women landowners now have the option of learning to manage their acreage through a relatively new organization— Lady Landowners League.

Mississippi is one of the few states in the nation to recognize the organization as a means through which ladies who own land and have responsibility for management + decisions can become informed of the current trends and technologies in the traditionally male-oriented agri-business world.

These leagues began in several counties in Mississippi in mid-1985 under the direction of local Soil and Water Conservation districts with assistance from the Soil Conservation Service.

Organized leagues in each of the state's 82 counties could provide a channel through which women can prepare themselves to manage their lands, either along with their husbands or on their own.

The Lady Landowners
League in each county operates independently; elects their own officers, sets meeting dates and programs, and establishes annual dues according to the needs and desires of the membership of the county.

The League provides an opportunity for the ladies to identify areas of agri-business which they would like to know more about and then hold informative meetings and work-shops catering to these needs. The Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation district is willing to assist in the formation of a Lady Landowners League in Hancock County. Put poinsettias in your holiday plans

By Dr. Milo Burnham Horticulturist Mississippi Cooperative Extension Sérvice

We're in the home stretch. Thanksgiving is over and the end-of-the-year rush to Christmas is on. Store merchants just can't wait until the final four weeks to start their Christmas season so we've been looking at tree lights, ornaments and wrapping paper since Halloween. Stores and shopping malls the nursery where I worked. received huge shippping crates of poinsettia stock plants (dry, dormant, bare root, California field-grown plants) just before Easter.

As soon as the lilies and azaleas were out of the greenhouses the stock plants were set in soil-filled benches, watered and the heat was turned up to force them to sprout.

I spend my summer mornings taking poinsettia cuttings, finishing at noon each for several weeks. Once in the home, poinsettias prefer a location that receives some sun or bright light and is away from drafts. The plants should be kept damp, not wet

An occasional light fortib zation helps to hold the green leaves on the plants. Don't let the colorful bracts touch cold window panes where they'll freeze or be damaged.

Most people still profethe red poinsettias but the hasn't stopped the breeders from developing other colors Poinsettias are now pink, white, splotched red and pink, and even yellow in addition to the traditional red.

When shopping for poinsettias to decorate your home or to give as gifts, look for plants with a fresh appearance, good green leaves and brightly colored bracts. The small flowers in the center of the bracts are often an indication of freshness and certainly add t

Advances in production technology now allow growers to wait until August to begin their plants using rooted cuttings purchased from a licenses propagator.

As a teenager in New Jersey, the greenhouse operation where I worked always started their poinsettias right after Easter. Today's poinsettias are a far cry from the poinsettias I helped

Christmas in the Pass offers entertainment, shopping, food

's e historic waterfront of Pass Christian will be the setting for the sixth annual Christmas in the Pass celebration on Friday, Dec. 7.

Activities for young and old alike will take place throughout the downtown area from 4 until 9 p.m., beginning with ceremomes at War Memorial Park on Scenic Drive.

The festival draws up to 3,000 revelers each year from the Coast, Jackson and New Orleans and is famous for its old-time spirit of holiday cheer in a small community setting.

The downtown area of the city will become a pedestrian mall, closed to vehicular traffic fc: the evening, ornamented by thousands of white lights and Christmas decorations for which first, second and thirdplace awards will be given. Those who choose not to walk may ride the Holly Trolley, sponsored by Peoples Bank, to any of eight destinations on its route, or ride in a horse-drawn carriage.

Festival goers can park their vehicles on Scenic Drive and Second Street west of Market Street and east of Fleitas Ave.

Festivities get underway at War Memorial Park at 5 p.m. with opening ceremonies, during which students of A Child's Estate Montessori School will sing, and members of the Pass Christian High School Band will perform.

Santa arrives by sleigh at 5:30 to light the town Christmas tree, donated annually by the Randall Jones family in memory of their daughter, Gretchen. His elves distribute

Labor and Contractor Survey and Registration

Due to the closure of the local employment office in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, Bay Cove Harbour is conducting a labor and trades contractor survey.

In this connection, names and availability of local trades persons and licensed suppliers and contractors (with preference to Hancock County) are being sought for registration in advance of expected requirement, on or after January 2, 1990 - subject to the successful passage of the Dockside Gaming Act on Tuesday, December 4, in Hancock County.

This advertisement does not constitute an immediate offer of employment or any contractural agreement of employment or agreement to employ. The register is to accumulate and compile a list of labor/ contractor/supplier availability to draw upon as construction and operations commence, advance, or dictate.

Registrations, resumes, applications, are being accepted from:

1. Contractors:

Road, dirt, utility, shell, bulkheading, piers, jetties, concrete, asphalt, construction, electrical, plumbing, roofing, wrought iron, heavy equipment, trucking, tug boat.

2. Individual

Heavy equipment operators, carpenters, fitters, welders, tackers, plumbers, roofers, laborers, mechanics, storekeepers, golf course greenskeepers, groundskeepers, dock workers.

3. Hotel/Restaurant/Club

All levels, including: maitre d's, chefs, kitchen help, bus boys, waiters/waitresses, barkeepers, cocktail waitresses, administration, front desk, auditors.

4. Casino

Experienced, registered casino personnel all positions; casino apprentices and floor operators, administrative assistants.

5. Professional/Office

Safety engineers, accountants, reservation and promotional personnel, administrative assistants, public relations, telephone solicitors, nursing staff (R.N., N.P.), computer operators, computer technicians.

Note: Bay Cove Harbour is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Details concerning this registration are available

BUSINESS BULLETIN

From 1976-1985, one thousand eight hundred and ninety (1,890) established businesses closed their doors. Atlantic City today, doesn't have a car wash or even a movie theater, and only one grocery store has survived in a city of 35,000.

Businesses Operating in Atlantic City 1976-1985 A decline of over 1000% Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce

The same dramatic demise of businesses occurred in Deadwood, South Dakota as a result of legalized casino gambling:

"It happened so fast. All our businesses went out of our town. I don't have anything against gambling, but we don't have any town left. You can't even buy jeans here... this puts us on the map in a bad way."

RETIRED NAWY OFFICER ROGER JONES, RESIDENT OF DEADWOOD

"This USED to be a town. Now, look at what we have - a phony little amusement park... I don't have any moral opposition to gambling... but we've lost our identity as a community...we've lost everything we had."

BETTY WHITTINGTON, RESIDENT DEADWOOD, SD CHARTER MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE TO LEGALIZE GAMBLING IN DEADWOOD

"All you have to tell those people in Mississippi is that Deadwood went to hell in a handbasket...there's too many loonies coming to town... I'm just quittin. I wouldn't advise any town to accept a deal like this."

THE FACTS CONCERNING CASINOS AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Atlantic City casinos are now being recognized for what they are: a profitable source of income for the operators, a disaster for the residents.

WILL THERE BE THOUSANDS OF NEW JOBS?

No, the total number of people in Atlantic City who are unemployed remains about the same. (The Atlantic City Gamble, p. 11)

Jobs created by casinos come at the expense of jobs lost to regular businesses such as clothing, furniture, food and financial institutions. (Bureau of Business and Economic Research, Paper No. 86-2)

WILL GOVERNMENT SERVICES BE LESS EXPENSIVE?

No, the poor people who had danced in the streets the night gambling was legalized were soon bemoaning their fate, as property taxes and water, sewer, and utility bills soared... ("Parade," Why Casino Gambling is a Bad Bet by Ovid Demaris, author of "The Boardwalk Jungle")

WILL EXISTING BUSINESSES INCREASE SALES AND PROFITS?

No, "You don't see any spillover. The casinos are walled-off universes. In terms of revitalizing the city, it's a disaster. The visitor who passes beyond the thin layer of tinsel trappings along the Boardwalk enters a wasteland." (From a study by the Twentieth Century Fund concerning Atlantic City)

Casino gambling does not create wealth; it simply concentrates and re-allocates it. Money not spent at the casinos will be spent elsewhere. Since about half of Atlantic City's customers come from a 50-mile radius, the casinos re-allocate millions of dollars into Atlantic City casinos that otherwise would have been spent in normal consumer-related businesses. (Bureau of Business and Economic Research, Paper No. 86-2)

WILL NEW BUSINESSES LOCATE IN HANCOCK COUNTY?

No, between 1978 and 1985, "... nearly 90 percent of the city's businesses had vanished, and its population had shrunk from 45,000 to 37,000." "Real estate values and property tax assessments have skyrocketed, driving out most of the small businessmen who had dreamed of sharing in the gambling bonanza." (Concerning Atlantic City in "Parade," Why Casino Gambling is a Bad Bet by Ovid Demaris, author of "The Boardwalk Jungle)

CASINOS AND CRIME: THE FACTS

Nevada, with legalized gambling for over 50 years, has consistently ranked first in the nation in per capita crime. From 1976 to 1977, before casino gambling, Atlantic City's crime index actually decreased 6 percent. After casino gambling, however, Atlantic City's reported crimes jumped 171 percent (this includes the following offenses: murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary and motor vehicle theft). (From "Report of Attorney General Robert Abrams in Opposition to Legalized Casino Gambling in New York State.")

"Devastating" is how one local police official characterizes the social impact on Atlantic City concerning the deluge of muggings, purse snatchings, car thefts, crimes of trickery, dope peddling, and prostitution stimulated by the introduction of casinos. (From "Report of Massachusett's Legislative Research Bureau")

Elderly residents have become prime targets for criminal attacks on the streets and in their homes. They live in fear of crime, especially burglaries and personal assaults. (From 'Report of Stockton State College' (1981) on problems of Atlantic City's elderly population.)

Atlantic City's Police Department was faced with a 2,000 percent increase in demand for its services within four years of legalizing casinos. (Abrams Report)

The cost of local law enforcement in Atlantic City increased dramatically. From a public safety budget of $5.7 million in 1977, the budget request was more than doubled for 1981 to $14.2 million. (Abrams Report)

"The actual Atlantic City and Nevada Experiences have conclusively demonstrated to me that legalized casino gambling, by its very nature, creates an environment in which crimes of all types will flourish." (A quote from Robert Abrams, a former Attorney General for the state of New York)

TOURISM: THE FACTS

The average length of stay for a tourist on the Mississippi Gulf Coast is 3 days. The average for Atlantic City gamblers is 1½ days. Why trade 3 days on the Coast for 1½ days on their boat???

"If we really want to attract more tourists to this state, we should invest our money and our imagination in providing better entertainment, better facilities, a better climate for recreation and relaxation, and better hospitality. Such investment would represent a responsible commitment. The bottom line is our vision of ourselves and our future. What kind of community and state do we want to live in? ... to raise our children in? God has provided us with one of the most bountiful and beautiful lands on the face of the earth - we do not need to sell this state cheaply. We have taken great strides in preserving our national environment. We should be as vigilant and vigorous in improving and preserving our cultural and social environment. There are many things we yet may need to add, but casino gambling is not one of them." (A quote from former Florida governor Reubin O'D. Askew in "The Legislative Report")

CASINO GAMBLING HAS ALWAYS BEEN REGULATED BY STATES... BUT NO STATE HAS EVER BEEN ABLE TO CONTROL CASINO GAMBLING.

A Major MINOR Problem

Despite the claims of casino owners to have turned away 230,000 minors at the door, and 25,000 from within the establishments a survey of Atlantic City high school students conducted as early as 1981 revealed:

o 72% of the students had gambled in the casinos in Atlantic City

o 69 % started gambling by the age of sixteen.

Atlantic City Homeless Population Swells:

Casino gambling acts as a magnet attracting the homeless and vagrants as evidenced by the dramatic increase in those seeking assistance from the shelters located in Atlantic City. Time Magazine in it's feature article about Atlantic City (September 25,

"It's the end of the expressway," say's Barry Durman, the Missions Director. "Once you get here, where do you go?"
